Spotlight on September RCPPC Artist – Jim Moiso

Never a “doodler”, drawer or painter, Jim Moiso decided to try something new when he retired by taking painting classes at PCC and PSU. He presents his “non-style” paintings in the Parlor during September. Each piece is part of an assignment and each has a story. Jim continues to be amazed that he is “doing art”.

Sunday School

Nursery: infant–5 yo meets in the nursery downstairs.

No classes today as children and youth will remain in worship to experience the Triennium report and celebration. After worship, meet with Gail in the Fellowship Hall to prepare for Puppet Show on 9/15.

Habitat for Humanity Volunteers Wanted

Habitat for Humanity has asked RCPPC to help in the renovation of the community space at Arbor Mobile Home Park, NE 64th and Killingsworth. We have saved a time for our group to volunteer on Saturday morning, 9:00am to 12:30pm, for such tasks as laying mulch, building picnic tables/new planter boxes, improving signage, etc. Lunch and T-shirts will be provided by Thrivent Financial and this promises to be another very rewarding Cully neighborhood project, part of St. Vincent DePaul's plan to keep residents in their homes in the area.

If you can donate time on Saturday morning, 14 Sept., please contact Thad Langford and you'll be given the link to Habitat for registering. Even if you're already in their registration system, you must log in and register for this event so they'll know you're coming. It would be very good to have at least 5 to 7 people there, ready to improve lives for the Arbor Park folks. Thank you for your prayerful consideration.

Hancock Street Mural Painting

Our street mural has worn and faded over the past couple years, and it's time to re-paint! We will gather on Sunday, September 15th to paint and re-beautify this block of the Hollywood neighborhood! The event will run from 10am to 4pm.

In 2016, over 100 volunteers came out to paint the Hollywood Garden Mural on NE Hancock Street between 44th and 45th – the block adjacent to RCPPC, and which hosts the Hollywood Farmers Market each Saturday. Taking its inspiration from the bountiful produce on display at the farmers market, the mural takes the form of a garden, with a path of stepping stones winding its way around fruits, vegetables and vines. This is one of the largest street paintings in Portland, stretching curb-to-curb along 100 feet of Hancock Street. On market day, it serves as a beautiful carpet for the farmers market, and throughout the week it leaves a reminder of the market on the street. We hope you'll join us for this festive event.

World Communion Sunday, October 6

Worship & Arts Committee invites RCPPC members and friends to share the Lord's Prayer in other languages for World Communion Sunday, October 6. If you know or can read the Lord's Prayer in a language other than English, please be in touch with Lea Lawrence-Moiso or our pastors, David and Paulette by September 22.

Reading in the Evening — September 25th, 7 PM. Please join us to discuss the novel Manhattan Beach. We meet in the homes of church members and friends.
